Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—SENATE—Mr. Sumner presented the petition of citizens of New York, earnestly asking that no State that rebelled should be admitted as a governing partner into the Union without adequate security for the future. Referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

Mr. Wilson presented the petition of several colored men, who represent that they were formerly the slaves of George W. P. Custis, who in his will freed them and provided for their support from the property left by him. They ask that a portion of the Arlington estate be set aside for their benefit. The petition was referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Fessenden rose to a personal explanation. He found in the National Intelligencer, of the 17th inst., a letter from William A. Graham, a claimant for a seat in the Senate from North Carolina, in reply to his (Fessenden's) remarks a few days ago concerning the nature of the investigations carried on by the Committee of Fifteen. This letter of Mr. Graham's was intended to convey the impression that the investigations of the committee were not impartial. Mr. Graham had written to him (Fessenden) making two requests—one that witnesses suggested by him (Graham) should be examined, and another that the Representatives and Senators from those States be allowed to be present to cross examine these witnesses. The last request was not complied with, because it was not customary in cases of investigation by a Committee, and because the proceedings of the Committee were not in the nature of a criminal investigation where cross examinations were necessary. He (Fessenden) did not regard the lately rebellious States in the light of criminals on trial, nor was he acting in the capacity of prosecutor. Another error of Mr. Graham's was his belief that the testimony had closed because it had been ordered to be printed. It had not closed except in the case of Tennessee. In the case of North Carolina no testimony had yet been printed at all, it being in the hands of Mr. Howard, of Michigan, now absent on account of domestic affliction.

Mr. Davis, in reply to Mr. Fessenden, advocated the right of the claimants as Southern Senators and Representatives to be present and cross-examine witnesses. Mr. Davis proceeded to read Mr. Graham's statement in the Intelligencer. Having read for half an hour, he was called to order by Mr. Chandler, who insisted that there was no question before the Senate.

Mr. Fessenden said that he had yielded to Mr. Davis for him to read Mr. Graham's letter, but it was evident that he was reading the editorial and news columns of the paper.

Mr. Davis said he was reading an explanation of the case by Mayor Lawrence.

At the conclusion of Mr. Davis' reading, Mr. Fessenden rose to say, that if Mr. Graham desired to introduce further testimony in the case or North Carolina, he could do so.

HOUSE.—Mr. Dawson, of Pa., introduced resolutions declaring that the United States cannot guarantee the bonds of Mexico or any other nation, and endorsing Mr. Jefferson's principle of avoiding "entangling alliances."

The House having refused to second a demand for the previous question, the resolution went over under the rule.

Mr. Ancona, of Pa., offered a resolution providing for the adjournment of Congress on the — day of May, 1866. The resolution was agreed to.

Mr. Cullom, of Illinois, offered a joint resolution making an amendment to the Constitution, which provides that no person except a citizen of the United States, who has at all times borne true allegiance thereto, shall ever hold office under the United States. The resolution was referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

The House reconsidered the vote by which the loan bill was rejected, and recommitted it to the committee on Ways and Means.

(Correspondence Richmond Examiner.)

How the Civil Rights Bill will Affect the South---Doubt About the Probable Veto of it---Senator Stewart's Compromise---Its Accompanying Declaration.

WASHINGTON, March 18.

The civil rights bill, now before the President, deeply concerns the Southern States. As modified, it does not regulate the right of suffrage, but it proceeds upon the assumption that Congress can enact civil and penal codes for the States. The bill applies to all States, but will never probably be enforced anywhere but in the South; and then it will fall into desuetude if the South should be represented in Congress.—Some say that if the President signs this bill it should be with the understanding that Congress, having received all that they have claimed, should admit the Southern representatives. But the only effect upon Congress will be to encourage further exactions.

The conservative republican senators who opposed this and the Freedmen's Bureau bill are in doubt whether the President will feel it his duty to veto this bill or not. But they will sustain him in the veto, and will not blame him if he do not. The democratic senators fiercely denounce the measure; but they, too, are in doubt whether the President will veto it.

The new proposition for a compromise between Congress and the Southern States, as offered by Senator Stewart, of Nevada, is destined to become a subject of grave discussion.—You will notice that democratic senators denounced it, and the radicals sustained it. The radicals demanded equal suffrage in all the States—equal, if not universal. The President's telegraphic letter to Judge Sharkey, of Mississippi, will be considered as, in some sense, committing him to the proposition of Mr. Stewart. But, if the Reconstruction Committee adopt and report Mr. Stewart's resolutions, and if it should pass, the President will no doubt approve it, because it only offers a plan of reconstruction to the Southern States for their acceptance or rejection. It is accompanied, however, with a declaration that Congress demand all those guarantees before a general amnesty will be declared, and all the representatives from the eleven States be admitted. Congress, it is averred, will do nothing better than this for the South. At the next session they will be equally or more exacting. Now, it is said, the States concerned can voluntarily accept these terms, through their State Legislatures, and be brought back at once to their former relations with the Union. The offer by Mr. Stewart is a sort of auto de fe. The eleven States are allowed to punish themselves for rebellion. The measure disclaims any attempt at coercion.

COSMOPOLITE.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication, in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter not original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will spare no effort or expense to make it rank with the VERY FIRST magazines of the country.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be unanimounced by any part, or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following

Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	18 00
Ten copies for one year,	33 00

☞ The COSMOPOLITE will be generally distributed among the Merchants and Planters of the South, and we shall add, for their information, a few advertisements, at moderate rates.

☞ Liberal deductions will be made to booksellers and newsdealers.

Thursday, March 22, 1866.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For Daily, per year,	$10 00
" six months,	5 00
" one month	1 00
" two months	2 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The Weekly and Semi-weekly will be issued about the first of January. Money may be sent us by the Rail Road conductors or the Express Companies.

To Subscribers.

We are sending the Sentinel to a number of our friends who have not paid us. The time of a number has expired, but, believing they desired its continuance, we have continued it.—We regret to say, that our expenses are so heavy for paper, &c., that we shall be compelled to discontinue the paper to all who do not pay up by the 1st. of April next. Notice the cross mark. This arrangement does not apply to our city subscribers whom we can see any day.

The Test Oath.

Our position on this subject has been made sufficiently plain to be understood. We have seen no good reason to change our opinion.

One or two papers of this State, perhaps for the lack of something else to talk about, ever and anon recur to this subject, and repeat their attacks upon the people of this State, because they failed to elect men to Congress who could take the "test oath." They have reiterated the false statement, that the President had clearly intimated his displeasure at the election of those who could not take it. They have repeated the unfounded declaration, time and again, that the President considered it essential that the people should elect only such men, and that he telegraphed to Gov. Johnson, in November last, not to give those elected to Congress certificates, for "the reason that they could not take the oath." This is a direct perversion of the President's language. It is so palpable, that it cannot be simply a mistake, and yet it has been repeated both North and South. The following are the telegrams from which these ideas are manufactured:

TELEGRAM.

Received 2.50 P. M., November 24.

Milledgeville, Ga., Nov. 21, 1865.

ANDREW JOHNSON, President U. S.

No members of Congress elected can take the oath. Shall I issue certificates of election?—The legislature will probably be to some extent impracticable and refractory. I am inclined to think a suspension of pardons might have a salutary effect. I shall be a candidate for the senate, and of course will be defeated.

J. J. JOHNSON, Prov. Governor.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S TELEGRAM.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26, 1865.

JAS. JOHNSON, Prov. Gov., Milledgeville, Ga.:

You will continue to act as Provisional Governor of Georgia until relieved and your successor recognized by the Government. At present, as Provisional Governor, I would issue no certificates of election to members of Congress elect.

If I understand your despatch, none of the members elect to Congress from Georgia can take the oath of office as it now stands. Please advise me of their real status as to loyalty and qualification in regard to disability under the law and Constitution. I regret to hear that you have apprehensions as to the action of your Legislature, and hope that you will come out right. You will accept the approbation of the Government for the loyal and efficient manner in which you have discharged your duty as Provisional Governor.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
President of the United States.

Now mark the language of the President:—"At present, as Provisional Governor, I would issue no certificates of election to members of Congress elect." The connection in which this clause stands, shows that it has no reference whatever to the fact that the members could not take the oath.

The next sentence of the President's telegram refers directly to that fact. Now see what the President says: "Please advise me of their real status as to loyalty and qualification in regard to disability under the law and the constitution." From this it is plain, that the President does not consider that a man's ability to take the "test oath" fixes his "real status as to loyalty."

We have never doubted, that the President would have preferred, if it were possible, the election of men in the South who could take that oath. He, as well as every true friend of the Union, North and South, greatly preferred that no impediment whatever should have been presented to the admission of Southern members. But was it possible that this requisition of the Congress could be complied with? We deny its practicability or possibility. So far as the President is concerned, this would not be a barrier. When he instructed Gov. Johnson not to give certificates as Provisional Governor, he meant to render such an informality unnecessary, by allowing the Governor elected by the people to take his seat, whose certificate alone could have met the law in that particular. The presentation of a certificate of election from a Provisional Governor, might have been plead at once in bar of their admission.

In this State, some presses and persons are exceedingly anxious to keep up a clamor upon this point, and especially against Mr. Graham and Mr. Turner, although we have met and refuted their objections repeatedly. The fact that gentlemen were unpardoned did not affect them in other States, and is not used now to their disparagement. In other States unpardoned men were candidates, were elected, and pardoned by the President. It was natural for them to expect the same treatment. Excepting this technical obstacle, does any man dare affirm that they are not loyal men—that they are not true Union men—that they are not "devoted to the Union and the Constitution," the test of loyalty which the President makes? As to Gov. Graham, is there a man in North Carolina who enjoys more fully the confidence of our whole people, as a loyal and true citizen, and so well fitted for the position of U. S. Senator, as he, who could take the test oath? Why did not those who are so clamorous for men who can take the oath, bring forward men who could take it? Why bring forward Mr. Pool, who could not take it?

Again: There is much said against Mr. Turner. Why did not his opponents bring out a man who could take the oath? Is there a man in the 4th District who can take it, that the people would trust? Until these complainers can bring forward men who can do it—men of the right stamp, who will suit the people, and suit the President and suit the Congress, they should shut their mouths. But so far as the complainers in this State are concerned, the clamor is hypocritical. Lewis Hanes, Esq., had the best Union record, as a Union man during the war, and as a reconstructionist, and yet they were anxious to defeat him, because he did not run under the patronage of Gov. Holden. No member of Congress in the State has a better Union record than Mr. Hanes, and yet he does not feel that he could take the oath, with his understanding of it. The truth is, the clamor in this State is all bosh. We have no idea, that the people of North Carolina could ever, were they to try till doomsday, elect an entire delegation of respectable representatives who could take that oath.

Significant Facts.

The great body of the American people, though slow sometimes in reaching conclusions, seldom err in making an ultimate judgment.—We have observed, that if they err in their selections of men to fill important stations in the first instance, they seldom repeat it.

There is another fact equally significant. The charges of disloyalty against the Southern people, we have observed, proceed entirely from three sources: First, from Northern men whose intercourse with Southern people has been almost entirely confined to business, speculators and traders, or whose official positions are unfavorable to arriving at an impartial judgment. Secondly, from Southerners who have little principle, and who wish to make the impression that they, themselves, are superlatively loyal.—Thirdly, from Southerners, who have been disappointed in their aims—mere politicians, who care little who lose, so they win.

It will be recollected, that the Standard, some time ago, gloated over the testimony of J. J. Johnson, late Provisional Governor of Georgia, in which he represented the people of that State as disloyal. We could not exactly account for that at the time. We were sure there was a cause for it. Gov. Perry, whose loyalty and integrity no one can call in question, endorsed the loyalty of South Carolina. At one time Gov. Johnson endorsed the loyalty of Georgia, as Gov. Holden did the loyalty of North Carolina. Why is it, that the loyalty of the people of these two States is not now endorsed by them? Gov. Johnson, of Georgia, and Gov. Holden, of North Carolina, so far as we now know, are the only two men who have occupied prominent positions in the work of reconstruction who do not now endorse the loyalty of their people. Why is it? Gov. Johnson was a candidate for the U. S. Senate, and failed.—Gov. Holden was a candidate for civil Governor, and failed. Is that the reason?

Decision of the Supreme Court.

It is currently rumored, in the latest papers received by mail, that the unconstitutionality of the test oath has been declared by the Supreme Court of the United States, and that the decision will soon be officially announced to the public. Our advices from Washington, for some time past, have led us very strongly to hope that such would be the decision of the Court, despite the acrimonious opposition of the Attorney General. If the rumor prove to be true, one would suppose that the greatest barrier to the admission of the Southern members to their seats in Congress would be removed: but the radical, revolutionary body, who framed the test, are daily enacting laws and assuming powers just as unconstitutional. So that the decisions of the Supreme Court, however legal and just, will have but little effect with this factious and arbitrary clique.

Change.

In order to arrange properly for the issue of our Semi-Weekly paper, simultaneously with the Daily, on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, and in order to secure our Western mails regularly, the Sentinel will be issued as an evening paper. Our city subscribers will, however, be served by the carriers in the morning, as at present, and, to furnish them the latest news, the press will be stopped, when necessary, to give the latest intelligence.

Council of State.

Governor WORTH has summoned the Council of State to meet in this city, on Saturday, the 14th day of April next. The following gentlemen constitute the Council:

Mr.	Wm. A. WRIGHT, President,	New Hanover,
"	JESSE J. YEATES,	Hertford,
"	WM. EATON, JR.,	Warren,
"	DANL. L. RUSSELL, SR.,	Brunswick,
"	H. A. LEMLY,	Forsythe,
"	CALVIN J. COWLES,	Wilkes,
"	R. F. SIMONTON,	Iredell.

The New York Herald, in the article which we give in another column, takes a hopeful view of the political situation. There are many expressions in the article, which might have been well omitted, but the tenor of the whole is good and cheering.

Gov. Graham's Letter.

It will be seen, by reference to the proceedings of Congress, on our first page, that the recent letter of Gov. Graham, exposing the course of the "Central Directory" with reference to North Carolina created, quite a fluttering in the Radical Camp. Its plain statement of the gross injustice practised by the Committee, in ignoring all but the most prejudiced evidence as to the sentiment of our people, has doubtless excited the apprehensions of the Chairman as to the impression upon the public mind.

The statement of the Chairman that the testimony had not closed, in the case of this State, because of the ordering of the evidence to be printed, appears very much like an after thought. At all events, the reverse was the popular opinion, in accordance with precedent in all cases at all similar. Still, we are gratified at the assurance that the doors are yet open, and we indulge the hope that the exposition of Gov. Graham will compel the examination of such witnesses, suggested by our members of Congress, as are qualified to bear proper testimony as to the status of our people. We re-assert, what we have again and again declared, that no man, at all conversant with the public sentiment of North Carolina, who is a fair-minded and unbiased man, can impeach her loyalty to the Government.

It is, to our mind, a most disingenuous assumption, that, because the late insurgent States are not regarded in the light of criminals on trial, therefore the privilege, for which Gov. Graham contends, of cross-examining witnesses is inadmissible. The premises, themselves, are as false as the deduction. The Southern States, as before this committee, have heretofore occupied exactly the attitude of criminals. The purpose for which it was instituted was to elicit one-sided information that would prejudice their claims to restoration, and justify the Radical majority in Congress in their pre-determined course of injustice and oppression. They have not only been debarred the very commonest right of criminals to have the best evidence in their favor adduced and given its proper and full weight, but they have been so far placed beneath the level of ordinary criminals as to have their case pre-judged. We must estimate the motives of men by their actions; and we do not hesitate to express the opinion, that evidence of the most conclusive character, cumulating mountain high, as to the loyal conduct and intentions of our people, would not weigh a feather against the opposing scale of Radical malignity and vindictiveness.

Be that as it may, let the inquisition at Washington but accord Gov. Graham, and other members of Congress from the Southern States, the fair and reasonable privilege, which, in the name of their injured people, they seek, of cross-examining witnesses, and there will be such a sifting of testimony as was never seen in any Court House in the land. Perhaps, too, in that way, we may get at the meaning of Col. Clapp, of the Freedmen's Bureau, in his mysterious but oracular allusions to the repudiation of the "rebel" debt!

Fanny Downing.

The late notices of our native poets by Drs. Craven and Deems have been read with much pleasure and some pride by all who delight in this department of our literature. We have poets and poetesses among us who would shine anywhere. Among them stands eminent Mrs. Downing, whose "orient pearls" have been heretofore flung somewhat "at random." We have heard that she had a design of collecting them together again and presenting them to the public in more durable form. We know that she has some exquisite pieces which have never seen the light. One of these of considerable length, suggested by one of the metamorphoses of Ovid, is full of the happiest classical allusions, and for playful waggery and rollicking humor is scarcely inferior to the wittiest works of Saxe or Holmes. This poem is worthy of elaborate illustrations—and we hope we shall see them in her forthcoming book.

Mrs. D. can never be idle, and is now engaged energetically on a work of prose fiction, which will be completed by the autumnal months; and with the great care and thought, which she is known to be bestowing on the work, it may well be predicted that it will be a great improvement on her first essay in this line, the sprightly and sparkling "Nameless."

For the Sentinel.

A Grievance.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Will you do your subscribers the justice to give free newspaper readers the benefit of a prominent editorial, in which take the hide off without mercy. I am bored, beyond endurance, by those who can't "find anything worth reading in papers," when asked to subscribe, and yet make a regular business of coming and inquiring for my papers, as though they subscribed and paid for them. It is such a nuisance to me, that, unless it can be stopped, I shall have to stop taking papers myself.

Any body who takes papers himself is welcome to read mine, but when a man is too stingy to take a paper himself, I think he ought to have decency enough to let other people read their's before they call for them. G.

[We cheerfully give place to the complaint of our correspondent. If we could say anything to give force to his very proper indignation, we would do so. We have no doubt we have many of the class of readers he describes, and to all such we commend the strictures of G.]

It is gratifying to note that, ever since Henry Ward Beecher made a study of the doctrine of eternal punishment, his views on national affairs have become more conservative. In his "green and salad days," before his judgment ripened, he was a red-hot Radical, and given to very eccentric notions on morals and theology. But when the subject of hell fire was presented to him, although he expressed some doubts as to its literalness, yet it effected a happy change in his politics. He evidently made up his mind that, although there might be no such place as hell, he had better shape his conduct that he would never go there if he was mistaken. We commend this idea to Stevens, Sumner, and Greeley. When they feel uncharitable and malignant towards their neighbors, let them consult Beecher on hell fire, and govern themselves accordingly.—World.

[From the New York Herald.]

The Political Condition of the Country---The Great Issues.

When the great topic before the country was the war, no man could doubt which side he was on. There was but one possible side for every patriot, and all the copperhead inventions and arguments, all the finely affected indignation against arbitrary power, military rule, and all that, did not for an instant confuse the people. But when the country was saved, when the armies went home—when all that the soldiers could do was done—then the politicians came forward again, and there were parties once more. Men who had just stood shoulder to shoulder, who seemed to have no other thought or purpose in life than the good of the country and how best to secure the national welfare, now began to take the most diverse views of the necessities of the case, and to advocate measures so widely different that they could not possibly both have the same happy result of securing peace and prosperity. How should the people choose between such parties, when both claimed to do all for the good of the country, and when, a few months ago, all were equally urgent in the common cause?—How should they discriminate between parts of the organization that had certainly saved the country, when the parts were now equally loud in claiming to be animated by the same good purpose? The difficulty that surrounds such a discrimination has been the life of the radical faction. That faction has been able to keep together only because it has been able to conceal its purposes from the people. It has escaped the storm of popular indignation in its many disguises, and has found safety in the constant declaration that its grand object was reconstruction.

But the game is pretty well done with now. The disguise is torn away effectually. For the first time since the politicians succeeded to the soldiers in the arrangement of our national affairs, the issues and the position of parties are so clear that partizans cannot confuse the vision of the people. Standing forward in his high position the President has appealed to the people against the fanatics who, pretending to be friendly to his popular policy of reconstruction, were doing their utmost to defeat it. He has denounced boldly and openly the traitors that, like our former foes in the field, only assumed the garb of Union men in order to get close enough to give a treacherous fire into the ranks of men really fighting for the Union.—His bold declarations have exposed the whole insidious game. He has recalled the popular recollection to the fact that these men sustained the cause of the country only because it happened to coincide with certain propositions of their own, and has properly put them in the category of traitors, because they have always been and are now as ready as the rebels to destroy the government, when they could not accomplish their objects in any other way. The speech in which Mr. Johnson laid before the country on Washington's birthday the true position of the great issues of the day is the finest thing in his history. Its truth, its magnificent force, may be seen by the terrible writhings it causes among the radical vipers everywhere. As a piece of unpremeditated, energetic, earnest eloquence it is without an equal. It has all the fire, all the fervid denunciation that is so splendid in Demosthenes, with more directness, distinctness and point than is found in any effort of the great Athenian.

The people from Maine to California will respond to this bold appeal. Its simple view of the political situation is the people's view, and it will become the platform of a new party.—That new party, made from the conservative republicans and from what is left of the rank and file of the democracy, has already had the breath of life breathed into it by the President's words. That new party will carry the country in the next elections, or, if it do not quite that, it will open the way so well that it will sweep all before it in 1868. Its simple idea will be, the good of the country before everything. It will at once rebuke and crush out both extremes with the grand thought quoted by the President from Mr. Lincoln, that so far from keeping the Southern States out of Congress, we ought rather to force them to come in, if that should prove necessary. This party will class Garrison and Vallandigham together; it will put Stevens and Yancey side by side as enemies of the government, making no choice whatever between men who prefer their own notion to the common good. Mr. Johnson has laid down the platform of this party, and its growth, its triumph over all the factious elements will be an inevitable part of the progress of events. The eyes of the people are open, and all the radical jugglery cannot close them.

IMPORTANT SALE.

THE subscriber, as the administrator with the will annexed of the late John S. Brown of Pitt county, offers for sale,

Seventeen hundred and sixty Acres of land on Swift Creek, in Pitt county: There are 200 acres of the land cleared, with comfortable building. 700 acres of the tract is well set, with the finest Cypress in the State. The balance of the tract is high Pineywoods land, well set with pitch pine, and offers the finest facility for making turpentine and tar, of any in the eastern part of the State.

This body of land lies in a thickly settled and thriving section of Pitt county and is offered for sale under the provisions of the will of my said testator. I am authorized to do so and will sell the same at private sale, if I can do so.

ALSO, 100 acres of Piney land, on the North side of Tar River, adjoining the lands of Wm. Shivers and others.

Unless these lands are sold previously, I will offer them for sale at public auction, at the Court House door, in Greenville, Pitt County, on Tuesday, of next May County Court, being the 8th day of the month.

A liberal credit will be given, which will be made known on the day of sale.

Any person wishing to purchase privately can communicate with me by letter or otherwise, at Greenville, Pitt County, N. C.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

OUR ADVERTISERS TO DAY.—Brown, Parks & Co., of Hillsboro', present a unique advertisement, to which we direct attention.

Dr. Fisher, Superintendent of the Lunatic Asylum, invites proposals for lightwood posts and heart plank for fencing.

Jas. M. Towles announces a large lot of Dry Goods on consignment.

NEW GOODS.—Our merchants are filling up their stores with new goods. We have already mentioned the arrival of the fine stocks received by Messrs. W. H. & R. S. Tucker, A. Creech, Esq., and Messrs. Kellogg, Wheeler & Co.—Their styles of new goods are beautiful, and cheap for the times. Others will open new stocks in a few days.

SMALL POX.—The Progress mentions the existence of the Small Pox in this city. Doubtless the disease prevails to some extent,—but not to a sufficient degree to occasion any alarm.

MARCH TERM of Anson Superior Court was in session the past week,—Judge Buxton presiding. A number of assault and battery cases were disposed of, some of which have been on the docket since 1861.

THE WADESBORO' ARGUS says that Mr. W. A. Smith, of Concord, is in Anson, looking up lands for a New York Company. He has orders to purchase ten thousand acres. It is the intention of the Company to settle English emigrants on the lands.

THE ASHEVILLE News says that that town has recently received several valuable accessions of citizens. Among the number it mentions Col. W. M. Cocke, an ex-member of Congress from East Tennessee.

CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY.—We learn, from the Wilmington Dispatch, that the Court House in that city was the scene of considerable excitement on Saturday last. It appears that five negroes had been convicted of larceny, and, in accordance with the sentence of the Court, had been whipped by the Sheriff. A short time after they were whipped, two United States soldiers, accompanied by a negro man named Fred. Howe, entered the Court room for the avowed purpose of arresting Mr. S. R. Bunting, Sheriff of the county. Mr. Wm. A. Wright, Chairman of the Court, asked them by what authority they proposed to make the arrest.—They replied, that they were acting under a verbal order of an officer of the Freedmen's Bureau. The Chairman stated that the Court could not recognize a verbal order, whereupon the soldiers retired.

An interview was subsequently had between one or more officers of the Bureau and the Chairman of the Court. Mr. Wright satisfied the officers that the laws of North Carolina did not discriminate against the negro, in cases of petit larceny, and that a white man would be whipped for the same offence. The officers took the position that the punishment of a negro by stripes was a partial continuation of the "slave code," and that the infliction of stripes, on either a white man or negro, was a relic of barbarism, or something to that effect.

Pending the excitement, a large number of negroes assembled near the Court House, where they remained, discussing the affair in an excited manner, until the Mayor made his appearance on the spot, with a "posse" of policemen, and dispersed the crowd.

LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.—This institution, which opened its session in January last, has already 70 pupils, we learn, and the prospects of the institution are encouraging. It could not be otherwise, under the control of its excellent President.

WILMINGTON DIRECTORY.—We are indebted to Frank D. Swan, jr., Dealer in Books, Stationery, &c., Wilmington, for a very neatly gotten up Business Directory of that city. We are requested to state that a copy can be found at each of our Hotels for the benefit of the public.

NEWBERN MARKETS.—Cotton ordinary, 30@32c; good middling, 35@37. Crude turpentine steady at $4,75 for Dip and $2,75 for Scrape. Family Flour, $10 to $14.

WILMINGTON MARKETS.—Sales of 31 bales of cottop on the 18th. at 30 cents for low middling and 32 cents for middling. Sales of 39 bbls. Spirits Turpentine at 47½ cents for country and 50 cents per gallon for white. No transactions reported in rosin or tar.

PETERSBURG MARKETS.—Cotton steady on the 19th. at 34 to 35 cents. Corn in demand at 85@90 cents. No sales of tobacco. Gold, buying at 128; selling at 132.

(Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.)

The Civil Rights Bill and its Fate---The Stewart Resolutions---The Governorship of Connecticut, &c.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Though it is felt that the worst features of the original civil rights bill are destroyed, there is enough left for a keen constitutional lawyer to drive thro' four in hand; but it is urged that the thing will be impracticable and ineffectual, and therefore not dangerous. There is much anxiety among Congressmen as to its fate with the President.

It is understood in republican circles that Senator Foster inspired the resolutions which were introduced by Mr. Stewart, of Nevada.—The latter proposes points for the action of the Southern people, but does not endorse the proposition.

Mr. Foote is quite sick.

Mr. English, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Connecticut, has had several interviews with the President, who unquestionably desires his election. ALPHA.

Nine hundred rockfish, weighing sixty pounds average each, were caught one day last week near Norfolk. Some of them were six feet long.

GENERAL NEWS.

The loan bill, as it is called, was debated in the House of Representatives, on Friday, and defeated by a vote of sixty-eight against sixty-six. This bill was in no sense a party or an administration measure, though it was understood the Secretary of the Treasury favored it. The principal point at issue was upon giving the Secretary of the Treasury power to contract the currency at his pleasure, and almost to any extent. Other features of the bill and its details were not much debated. It was on this point that the bill was defeated. It is thought that the vote will be reconsidered and the bill passed, with some slight modification. This may be hoped for, because the House also rejected the substitute offered by Mr. Stevens, and had refused to lay the bill on the table.

Governor Wells, of Louisiana, has refused to issue a certificate of election to Mr. Monroe, who claims to be the newly chosen incumbent of the Mayoralty of New Orleans. In this dilemma, Mr. Monroe has telegraphed to President Johnson, declaring his loyalty and the regularity of his election, and requesting Executive interference in his behalf. The President replied that he had no evidence of any irregularity in the election, but declined, in the absence of a a full understanding of the case, to take direct action in the matter. It is expected that General Canby will issue an order declaring Mr. Monroe and the other New Orleans officials duly elected.

Commissioner Newton, the present head of the Bureau of Agriculture, does not seem to be very acceptable. The New England Agricultural Society, at a late meeting, "earnestly" requested the President to remove him on the score of incompetency, and to appoint some one of suitable scientific and practical qualifications.

The Texas Reconstruction Convention, which assembled on the 7th of last month, is still in session, progressing very slowly with its work. The only recent point in its proceedings of importance, of which we have received a report, is the adoption of an ordinance declaring the secession ordinance null, renouncing the right to secede in future, and acknowledging the supremacy of the National Constitution.

A desperate conflict occured in Stewart county, Ga., last week, between planters and outlaws, and some negroes. Three whites and seven negroes were killed.

HON. C. C. CLAY.—We are pleased to see that two republicans papers are demanding that Mr. Clay shall be immediately released or put upon his trial. These papers are the Tribune and the Commercial Advertiser, both of New York city. They both declare that "by the Constitution, by the laws, by public opinion, by safe precedent, by the claims of justice, he is entitled to a speedy trial or to an immediate release. A great wrong, and one that ought to be remedied, is done."

The Canadian Reciprocity Treaty expired on the 17th instant.

The Fenian excitement in Ireland is now abating.

There were twenty-four divorce cases in a single county in Vermont last week.

The sum of $36,000 has been raised in Illinois for the purpose of establishing a Soldier's College.

A cargo of fine Sea Island cotton, raised in the Sandwich Islands, has reached Honolulu.

Three tons of Spencer rifles were shipped to Canada on Tuesday from Boston, the British authorities being the purchasers.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has reduced the freight on coal, straw and hay. Hap is consequently expected to decline in price in Baltimore.

It takes at least $60,000 a month, says a Washington paper, to support the 25,000 lazy and worthless negroes who infest the neighborhood of Yorktown, Va.

The defences of Washington are being dismantled, and reduced to a peace footing.

The Spanish officials were hoaxed, in New York, a few days ago, into sending off the two Spanish men-of-war at that point after imaginary Chilian privateers.

The Central Directory.

The telegraph furnishes some brief extracts from a correspondence between the Honorable William A. Graham, one of the Senators elect from North Carolina, and Senator Fessenden, Chairman of the Reconstruction Committee, touching the testimony which that committee is taking as to the condition of the Southern States. Brief as these extracts are, they show clearly enough the unrelenting and vindictive temper with which the "Central Directory" are discharging their duties, and the fixed determination of these Northern disunionists, by false testimony, to deceive their miserable followers into believing that the people of the South are, at heart and in fact, disloyal, despite the submission that they have made, and the oath of allegiance that they have taken. But our faith remains unshaken in the triumph of the truth and the utter confusion of these enemies of their country.—N. Y. News.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen. Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadship and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen. Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N. C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band, together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not, it must go down after this year.

W. H. Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Piano music, selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no trash for either.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor, Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments.

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

N. B. Mere letters of enquiry for musical information, but with no view to business with Mr. Neave or Band, must contain two postage stamps.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effects have abundantly shown to the community how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but power ful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergy men and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, All Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S and take no others. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

The Jew.

Shakspeare but followed the lofty impulses of his nature in holding up to execration that unquenchable lust of lucre which marks the race, although he does not show that this passion was but the effect of that persecution which, by crowding the Jew out of every honorable pursuit, and thus cutting off his nature from every sympathy with the world around, sharpened and edged the keen corners of his brain for the only pursuit left to him. It is true that money changers, once spit in the Ghetto, are now hugged in the palace. Rothschilds and Foulds, Belmonts and Benjamins are found in the ante-chambers of princes and presidents. But we fear that it is not so much that the prejudice against the Jew has ceased, but that the love of money has increased; not that the Jews have become as Christians, but that the Christians have become as Jews.

But if Shakespeare was just in this respect, he was not so in the picture he has drawn of the Jew's craving for revenge, and in the contempt with which he is treated by his daughter. Revenge is not a characteristic of the Jew. He is subject to violent storms of passion, as in Shylock's scene with Tubal, but that intellect which always stands sentinel over the Hebrew soon subdues the gust.

Jews also shrink from physical contests.—Their disposition is to triumph by intellect rather than violence. It was this trait, more than any other, which rendered them in the middle ages so repulsive to the masses, who were all of the Morrissey and muscular Christianity school. The contempt of a daughter for her parent is equally uncharacteristic of the Jew. The Jews are universally admired for the affections which adorn their domestic life.—The more they have been pushed from the society of the family of man, the greater the intensity with which they have clung to the love of their own family.

No one can ever have visited the houses of the Jews without having been struck by the glowing affection with which the daughter greets the father as he returns from the campaign, and the slights and sneers his gaberdine and yellow cap provoke, and without observing how those small restless eyes, that sparkle and gleam like snakes in search of prey, shine out a softened, loving lustre as they fall upon the face of Rebecca, or Jessica, or Sarah, and how he stands no longer with crooked back, but erect and commanding, as he blessed his household with an exultation as vehement as the prejudices which during the day have galled and fretted his nature.

To do justice to the grandeur of the Jewish race, and to brand with infamy its infirmities, it is not enough to produce a repulsive delineation of the latter. It would be only just to give expression to the former, and to exhibit the superiority of intellect which has survived all persecutions, and which, soaring above the prejudice of the hour, has filled us with reluctant admiration on finding how many of the great events which mark the progress of the age, or minister to its improvement, or elevate its tastes, may be traced to the wonderful workings of the soul of the Hebrew, and the supremacy of that spiritual nature which gave to mankind its noblest religion, its noblest laws, and some of its noblest poetry and music.

Truth is Stranger than Fiction.

That truth is stranger than fiction is asserted in the Memphis Avalanche, which cites the following:

Ten years ago, Mr. ——— was married to Miss ———. For a time all went well with the happy pair, but whether prompted by incompatibility of temper or through the meddlesome interference of relatives or friends, "ye chronicler" knoweth not, only that the demon of discord breathed upon their young love, and it withered as a flower 'neath winter's chilling breath. And to make a long story short, they separated. Shortly after the separation, a little daughter was born, and then a divorce obtained—by which party obtained, it matters not. For nine years—long weary years—they lived apart—never seeing, never hearing from or speaking of each other—and yet both remaing true to love's first bright dream. The little girl grew up and was taught to believe that her father was dead. She had never seen him, or been seen by him. Ah, who shall say how often during those long, dreary years, that the father's heart yearned for the sight of his child and pined to hear the music of her voice.

And the mother—the wife that was—was she happy? Who shall tell? Well, on the day before yesterday the lady, accompanied by her little daughter, walked into a business house in this city, and met him who was once her husband and the father of her child, coming out. They stood face to face, for the first time since their separation—nine years ago. Both stopped and gazed fixedly into each other's face. The father's eye turned his eyes to the child, and, stooping down suddenly, caught her in his arms—pressed her passionately to his bosom—rained a shower of kisses upon her face; then placing her on the floor, he gave one glance at the mother, and turned to go. Hearing his name called in a low tone, he turned! One look, and they were in each other's arms. They were left alone for a few moments by the considerate kindness of the parties present. Then a hack was called, and in thirty minutes from their first meeting they were married.

A BEAUTIFUL IDEA.—In the mountains of Tyrol it is the custom of the women and children to come out when it is bedtime and sing their national song until they hear their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on their return home. On the shores of the Adriatic such a custom prevails. There the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset and sing a melody. After singing the first stanza they listen awhile for an answering melody from off the water, and continue to sing and listen till the well-known voice comes borne on the waters telling that the loved one is almost home. How sweet to the weary fisherman, as the shadows gather around him, must be the songs of the loved ones at home that sing to cheer him, and how they must strengthen and lighten the links that bind together those humble dwellers by the sea! Truly it is among the lowly in this life that we find some of the most beautiful customs in practice.

THE TENDER PASSION.—When a man is in love with one woman in a family, it is astonishing how fond he becomes of every one connected with it. He intrataties himself with the maids; he is bland with the butler; he interests himself with the footman; he runs on errands for the daughters; he gives and lends money to the young son at college; he pats little dogs, which he would kick otherwise; he smiles at old stories which would make him break out in yawns were they uttered by any other one but papa; he drinks sweet Port wine, for which he would course the steward and the whole committee at a club; he bears even with the cantankerous old maiden aunt; he beats time when darling little Fanny performs her piece on the piano; and smiles when wicked, lively little Bobby upsets the coffee over his shirt.—Thackeray.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assets of $3,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $50 0, or $100 00, or $200 00, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, who, in the pangings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8859 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,643 389 57; total disbursements $527 865 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155 244 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter, yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous procrastination destructive. But one says "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

THIS valuable Manure has been before the agricultural public, under one name for twelve years past, and its character for vigor of action and permanence in effect is well established. Before the war, it was introduced, to some extent, in the Southern States, and was found to be highly adapted to Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.
In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

PROSPECTUS
OLD NORTH STATE.
"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.
The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.
In jecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.
It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short, it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.
Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.
The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE LOYALIST.

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination, The Loyalist, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and feasible support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence and the wisdom of Clay, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.
The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence, the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all will in its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.
The Loyalist will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3,00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
